

Aylesford-Eccles-Bluebell Hill-Walderslade
NOVEMBER 22

Mcdonalds-Aylesford. A male entered the drive-thru and threatened staff about his meal. He also was racist towards staff. CCTV was available.

Station road, Aylesford. A male called police when he saw a male lying on the ground in Station road. The male then got up and was unstable, believed to be drunk. There was concern he would walk into traffic.

Doctors surgery-Admiral moore drive, RBLV, Aylesford. A male patient entered the surgery and started banging on the desk. He said he would knock doors down and banged his fist on the desk. This was due to him believing he had received the wrong medication.

Mcdonalds- Aylesford. A male taxi driver entered the drive-thru with passengers and started being aggressive when told to wait in the car park for his meal. Police arrived and CCTV was available.

Royal British Legion Village, Aylesford. A female found an ipad with medical information. The tablet was left on the ground. This was handed in to the police station.

Poundstretcher, Aylesford. Three males entered the store and started being abusive. They were causing distress for other customers. When police arrived they had already left the store.

Marks and Spencer-Aylesford. Environmental officers called police due to a disturbance with two males. They saw two males littering and were met with abuse. CCTV was available.

Empress road- Aylesford. A female called in because she went to a party nearby and her phone along with bank cards were stolen. She did reattend where the party took place but no one had seen her property.

A20 London road, Aylesford. The road was flooded and Highways put cones to stop people driving through. Drivers decided to go through anyway and eight vehicles lost their number plates. Two vehicles were stranded in the middle of the flood and had to be towed out.

Deacon trading estate, Forstal road, Aylesford. A worker saw a male with a white Luton van trying to syphon diesel from one of their tanks. CCTV available.

Robinhood lane, Bluebell Hill. A female called police as she tried to avoid an accident. The male driver of the other vehicle then got out and started banging on her window. The female locked herself in the car and called police.

Mountpleasant, Aylesford. A female reported her car number plate had been stolen late at night.

Maidstone road, Bluebell Hill. A male reported twenty people with their hoods up and standing around. He thought they may have been activists. There were no other calls and the group had left the area.

Mackenders close, Aylesford. A male reported his motorbike being stolen overnight. The bike was worth £3300. Neighbour had CCTV.

Kent
Police

Parish Council Monthly Update

Hallsfield road, Chatham. Elderly male reported that someone had accessed his keysafe and stole the key.

Tunbury CP school, Walderslade. The alarm sounded at the school and two youths were seen running around in the grounds.

Community centre, Forstal road, Aylesford. A report came in about drunk and loud youths near the centre. Caller was concerned for other residents nearby.

